Digging For An Education

THE president of the United States advises the boys of the United States who are hungry for an education to "dig for it." It is good advice. When one has struggled and labored and agonized in the effort to acquire what we term an education
he can better appreciate its possession, and perhaps better apply in the experiences of life than one who came by knowledge along an easier way.

The late lamented President Harding had to dig for his education;
President Coolidge intimates that he enjoyed the same experience; one of the most distinguished visitors who ever came to these shores, now with us, had to dig in very truth for the treasures of knowledge which he today holds in fee.

"Dig for it!" says the president.
And the right sort of boys do dig for it in every age and in every clime. The story of the lives of Lincoln and many another American who became distinguished has become trite, but such stories remain forever significant of what may be done in the face of apparently insuperable handicaps.

In every college in the land are brave and courageous young men who in the acquirement of knowledge are "digging for it." They are making primary purpose of their lives, as it should be. They may not live so well as others, they may not have so good a time, but when they get through digging they will have the diamonds over which many have walked unseeing.

At the New York university, for instance, students who are "digging
for it" in one year have earned more than $1,250,000, not only paying their own way through college, but putting something by as well. One student earned $6,000 in the year.

And outside the colleges there is another great and valuable national army of young men and women who are digging for education, digging at night, in spare hours—all these diggers will give some account of themselves, for it is the purposeful diggers of the world who make the world worth while, no matter what it is they dig for.

Lessons Unlearned

PROF. SCOTT, director of the school of commerce, University of Wisconsin, discussing the prevailing ignorance of economics, says we see the present and the obvious but do not foresee consequences. We saw certain benefits we expected from sharply graduated income taxes, such as increased revenue and what we considered a better distribution of the tax burden. We did not foresee the diversion of capital from essential industries. In arbitrary regulation of commodity prices we saw the defeat of profiteers and the stimulation of production of war materials.

"What we did not see was a remote consequence—the disturbance of the normal price and profit relations
upon which the successful and smooth operation of our entire economic mechanism depends, interference with the normal flow of investment streams, the overequipment of some industries, the underemployment of others, and the fostering of the belief that the government is omnipotent
in economic matters and can arbitrarily adjust prices and profits to suit its own ideas of justice or expediency, or to meet the desires of blobs or classes that may chance to be politically dominant."

But foresight into the often baffling play of economic forces is naturally a very rare quality. What is more discouraging than our lack of it is our refusal to see consequences after they have arrived. Resistance to amendment of the ineffective income tax schedules, proposal for a restoration of the excess profits tax, price fixing for wheat are all being clamor-ously demanded by self-styled friends of the people. It is said experience is the best teacher, but there are many minds incapable of or unwilling to learn even from experience.

About one quarter of all the women
teachers in the London public schools are married.

AN OLD FRIEND

The world was startled recently when it was reported that a British scientist had discovered a cure for tuberculosis. A cure that would begin to show effects within 30 minutes.

Perhaps the announcement was premature, but the point claimed for the cure was interesting. That is, that it would destroy the fatty covering of the tubercle germ and thus allow other remedial agents to materialize or destroy the germ itself.

And so the thought came to me that a little fat upon your body was a very useful thing up to a certain point.

That is that fat is a natural protection of the body tissues and is a sign of health.

Now what is my suggestion?

That the old fashioned idea of giving pure cod liver oil in run down
and wasting conditions is a very wise
one. When we think of oils we may think perhaps of castor oil, and its use among children as a harmless but effective purgative.

When we think of olive oil we think of it more as a lubricant and heat producing force. But when we think of cod liver oil we should think of the tremendous food value Nature has provided in the livers of cod, and perhaps other fish.

You see most of the foods we eat
are half to three quarters water.
When we take cod liver oil, we take into us an exceedingly rich food. Why a tabernacle has as much food value as almost any article we take at meals, that is as much as a good sized piece of meat, or a helping of vegetables.

Cod liver oil is usually very easily handled by the digestive apparatus
and is ready to work in the system
in an exceedingly short time.

This means that it supplies the energy so quickly, that the body does not get a chance to wear itself out by its ordinary work before the oil is on the spot to delay the process.

Then it contains vitamins which mean much to the growth of the cells of the body. Thus in children who are not gaining in weight, and in adults who are run down, or suffering with any wasting condition you can see that its two fold job-building up,
and delaying destruction, is just what is needed.

JAPAN WILL MAKE RAPID RECOVERY

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Japan will make a substantial recovery in three years
from the loss and destruction of the recent earthquake, Dr. M. L. Ishi-zaka, president of Anyama college of Tokyo, one of the largest universities
in the empire, said upon arrival here from Tokyo. He is on an expedition to try to obtain American aid in rebuilding Japan's destroyed educational institutions.

"Japan," Dr. Ishizaka said, "already has commenced to rebuild the stricken cities of Tokyo and Yokohama and those centers and the surrounding devastated districts should recover with the speed of France after the war, that it will be more than mere planning and city building along occidental, rather than oriental lines.

"The new Tokyo will be more like Chicago or New York than the historic old Japanese city. Brick and wooden construction will be discarded and steel and reinforced concrete will prevail."

The earthquake, he said, may be a blessing in disguise in one sense, just as the Chicago fire proved to be a benefit to Chicago through the reconstruction along modern lines that resulted.

"Everywhere in Japan you hear today that America is the most friendly nation to Japan in the world," he said. "Everywhere there is a sense of great gratitude and praise. The old feeling of distrust has been swept away—an accomplishment that a century of political maneuvering
could not achieve."

Rev. Charles W. Leichart, a missionary in Tokyo, who accompanied Mr. Ishizaka, told of a 14-year-old girl carrying a two-year-old baby, who escaped when 20,000 others around her were killed in the quake. Tokyo is preparing to rebuild for a city of 5,000,000 inhabitants, the visitors
said. They will make their headquarters in New York.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of Oct. 15, 1903.)

Panama—There are reasons to believe that Nicaragua and Guatemala are on the eve of declaring war on Salvador and Honduras.

Mayor Carlile received a letter
this morning for which he had to pay one cent postage lacking on the envelope. It was from an irate citizen demanding that the mayor warn property destroyers, and that the citizens would take the law in their own hands "peppering" those who under the guise of Halloween pranks destroyed private property.

Having purchased additional property to widen the company's right-of-way, two officials of the Pennsylvania railroad visited Salem and made a trip to Yankee Crossing today.

A number of speckled bass have been sent here from the state fish hatcheries and the "Little Meander" nine miles north of Salem has been stocked.

The "Shoestrings" have been reorganized for the remainder of the season and will now be known as the Junior Athletics. Royal Schiller has been appointed captain of the team
and Henry Goodchild, manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tolerton attended the exposition at Pittsburgh today.
Invitations have been sent out for the wedding of Miss Ruth Somers and Ned Hazelton Hartzell, both of Alliance. The bride to be was a former Salem girl, and both are known here.

On Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Jason
W. Lindesmith who are well known in Salem and Columbiana county, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, at their home in Youngstown.

Radio Wave Fourteen Miles Long.
Long wave lengths are used to cover
great distances, such as transatlantic communication, chiefly because absorption of energy is much less on long wave lengths than on short ones.
The big station near Bordeaux, France, sets a wave of ether in vibration that is 23,000 meters in length, or approximately fourteen miles from crest to crest. When Broadcast Central on Long Island flashes a message 4,000 miles across the sea to Germany, the wave length used is about twelve miles long. Station NNS at Annapolis, broadcasting time signals from 3:55 to 4 a.
m. daily, has a wave length equivalent to about ten and a half miles.
Poz, Nauen, Germany, radiates a wave
approximately eight miles long.

Old Way of Drawing Water.

I took notes while we were at Epa,
New Guinea, of a rather curious method of drawing water from the communal spring, half a mile from the village, writes Reginald Pound in the Wide World Magazine. Twice a day
the women went down in chattering groups to the spring, carrying bamboo pipes 12 feet long. These pipes were made by forcing out the pith at the joints, and held about five gallons of water apiece. When full, the drinking end was plugged with leaves, the pipe being stood in a shady spot near its owner's house and used when needed.
Incidentally, drinking from these weird receptacles was a rather hazardous business, care being necessary lest a too copious supply should gush out when the pipe was held to the mouth.

As a general rule only one-third as many women commit suicide each year
as men.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments.
It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—
children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line
the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated continent of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.
To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex

Form Wound Coils Used by Amateurs

Method of Procedure Is Outlined for Electrical Workers.

By S. E. WATSON

Every amateur electrical worker has occasion at various times to use form-wound coils of special dimensions. In the construction of the wire is usually wound in place directly upon the core. With dynamo or motor fields and closed-core apparatus it is usually impracticable and in some cases impossible to wind the wire in this way. Consequently the coils must first be wound upon a form.

For the average job a form should be made of exactly the same length as is desired for the finished coil, making due allowance for the necessary insulation to be added later. Each of the other two dimensions should be about one-eighth inch greater than the corresponding dimensions of the core upon which the coil is to be placed. A block of wood planed to the over-size dimensions indicated above and saved to the desired length is the most convenient kind of core form. A quarter-inch hole is bored through the longitudinal axis of this block and receives the axle used in rotating the form. The appearance of the finished block is shown in Fig. 1.

Two end pieces of suitable size are made from this board, and a quarter-inch hole is bored in the center of each. One end piece is screwed to each end of the core, its center hole coinciding with that in the core. The spool thus formed is slipped onto a quarter-inch rod which has one end threaded for several inches and the other bent in the form of a crank. A tap is screwed up tightly to each end of the spool, and the whole is mounted as shown in Fig. 2. The bearings are simply wooden uprights with hole for the axle. If all work has been done with reasonable accuracy the spool should show no tendency to wobble when the crank is turned.

The first step before winding the coil is to be sure that it will slip off the core readily when it is finished. Wind on the core a single layer of small hard-twisted cord. This layer must be wound perfectly smooth, and the ends should be brought out through small holes in the end pieces. Wrap upon this layer two or three thicknesses of thin, stiff paper, just wide enough to come flush against both ends. Glue both tabs of the paper slightly, just enough to hold it in place.

On each side of the core and parallel to the axis glue a strip of narrow cloth tape, as shown at A, Fig. 2, allowing each end to come up from the core along the end pieces, and fasten temporarily upon the outside. The tape ends must be of sufficient length to tie over the coil when it is wound, thus providing a method of binding it tightly in the process of removal. If the coil is to be a large one, two or more pieces of tape should be placed on each side of the form. After these binders are in place paint the core with shellac or insulating paint.

Pass one end of the wire to be wound through a small hole drilled through one end-piece. Draw several inches of wire through and fasten securely by wrapping around the shaft. Wind the required number of turns on the spool, laying each turn as closely as possible against the preceding one. Paint each layer, as it is wound, with a liberal coat of insulating paint and allow it to partly dry before putting on the next layer. Wire—especially enameled wire—may be placed much more satisfactorily if it is wound on a bed of paint which has been allowed to dry just to the point of tackiness. When all the winding is in place paint the last layer, release the tab ends and tie each piece of tape firmly across the coil, as shown in Fig. 3. Allow time for the paint to harden before removing the coil. Passing just sufficient current through the coil to warm up the wire will hasten the drying.

Take the form from the axle, remove one of the heads and grasp the end of the layer of string. By pulling in the direction parallel to the axis the string may be removed, thus leaving a free space between the coil and the core. Remove the coil from the core, tape it and it is finished.

In the final taping the binding tabs should be removed, but it is not necessary to remove the paper. Narrow tape is best and makes a much neater job on small coils. Each turn should overlap the preceding one by half its width. Going once around the coil with tape in this way gives two thicknesses at every point, and this is usually sufficient.

THEATRES

Dante, The Magician

Dante, the noted European magician, who will appear under the management of Thurston, famous American magician at the Grand theater for two nights only, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 17. No matinee. Dante has been investigating spiritualism and things psychic for ten years or more. In common with his eminent sponsor, Thurston, he has effectively exposed the frauds perpetrated by mediums in all parts of the world, many of them internationally famous. He declares that he has yet to meet one who can give him a convincing demonstration of his or her ability to communicate with his departed relatives and friends.

In a recent interview the noted conjurer said: "After all we have five senses. It is very easy to suppose—easy and logical—that the various phenomena of nature give off or start thousands of vibration too fine for our senses to register. Perhaps in another hundred years we will develop new senses that will open up new worlds of fact and sensation to us. What they will be can't begin to imagine. Bearing this premise in mind, it is easy to surmise that there may be—probably is—a whole seething psychic world about us on all sides. Whether it is inhabited by the spirits of those who have departed this world, or is a great subconscious hinterland I am not prepared to say.

Blasco Ibanez Aided in Filming Novel story, "The Enemies of Women," made by Cosmopolitan Productions, is a magnificent photoplay, following closely this famous story, is the opinion voiced by Blasco Ibanez in a letter sent to Cosmopolitan Productions.

Ibanez's letter reveals the fact that, while the Cosmopolitan Company was making the exterior of the film in France the celebrated Spanish author gave up his literary work to live the life of a film actor.

"Lionel Barrymore and Alma Reubens come as the stars," he writes, "and I found the whole company very good."

"For a whole week I abandoned my literary work to live the life of a film actor. I put the director in touch with people who have lived more than 20 years on the Cote d'Azur and who know all the picturesque spots, even those which are most mysterious and unknown by outsiders. I also arranged that the Casino at Monte Carlo gave us permission to film scenes in the Casino and on the terrace of the Garden."

After this I talked with the ministers who constitute the government of the Principality of Monaco and they gave me permission to make scenes of the prince's palace where the historic cannons are, and also in the prince's garden from which there is a magnificent panorama of the sea.

It is the first time that the government of Monaco has given any such permission. "Altogether, I did everything that I could and I am sure that the film will be a magnificent reproduction of the Cote d'Azur."

"The Enemies of Women," distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan, will be the offering at the State theater starting today. In addition to Lionel Barrymore and Alma Reubens, who are featured in the picture, the cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, William ("Buster") Collier, Jr., W. H. Thompson, Garret Hughes and Gladys Hall, etc.

Half Of Ohio Farmers Have No Hired Help

Family Farm Still Leads In Ohio Experts Show At Columbus.

Columbus, Oct. 15.—Figures gathered on 310 farms in five different sections of Ohio indicate that about half of the farm families in the state do their own work, hiring practically no help the whole year through.

The exact proportion of the 310 farms reporting all work done by the family was 53 per cent. Rural economists at the Ohio State university, who conducted the inquiry, do not advance this figure as the precise percentage of "family" farms in the state, but say that their inquiry reached enough different farming regions and took in a sufficient number of farms to make the finding, in all probability, fairly representative of conditions over Ohio as a whole.

Added to this majority of farmers who depend on their families for labor are 23 per cent who hire help only occasionally. Nineteen per cent use one hired man the year round and in addition employ some day help. Only 5 per cent of these 310 farmers hire two men or more throughout the year. The figures varied with the prosperity and to some extent with the topography of the county. In Monroe county, typical of the hilly farming section of Southern Ohio, only two farmers out of 60 hire as much as two months' labor. All but 3 per cent of these Monroe county farms, then, were family farms.

In Fayette county, however, 45 per cent of the farmers questioned employed one hired man or more for the year round. All these figures are for the current year.

What a little paint will do!—

THINK what a little Certain-teed paint will do on the farm! For a house like this the paint will come to less than $27; for a big barn less than $19. Only 1¼ gallons are needed for the garage and 1½ quarts for the car. Where can you lay out a few dollars that will bring in half the return? Good paint adds many years to the life of expensive implements; it protects your fine barns from the weather; and it brightens up the outside and makes you proud of your home. By good paint we mean Certain-teed. It spreads more easily, covers more surface, and wears longer than ordinary paint.

PASTOR SPEAKS AT RALLY DAY SERVICE

Preaches On Second Coming Of Christ At Friends Church Sunday.

Rev. Charles Haworth, pastor of the First Friends church, Sunday evening preached on the subject, "The Second Coming of Jesus, Its Relation to Christian Service" and in his discourse declared that "one of the greatest needs of America is to get back to the Bible, to study and obey it."

"It is not believe that Jesus is coming back to earth, I doubt the plain statement of God's word," Rev. Mr. Haworth said.

Rev. Mr. Haworth's sermon dealt principally with the characteristics which mark the people who are looking for the second coming of the Lord.

"The person who is looking for the second coming of Jesus will have a great desire for the salvation of the lost, will have a great desire to know God's word and will have his arms stretched out and his light burning," according to Mr. Haworth. "The one who is looking for the coming of the Lord is ready to serve," he pointed out.

The young people's choir furnished special music and there was a selection by a quartet composed of Mary Elizabeth Gardner, Phoebe Ellen Parsons, Lorraine Derr and William Barker.

Sunday was a red letter day in the history of this church. It was rally day and all the services were unusually interesting and marked by a large attendance.

The orchestra from the Beloit Friends church played several numbers at the Bible school session. Miss Genevieve Barker, of Canfield, formerly of Salem gave two readings and Misses Mary Elizabeth Gardner and Phoebe Ellen Parsons, sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Parsons. At the morning service for worship Mr. and Mrs. Grant Elton and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Derr sang a duet.

HENRY WEAVER, POSTMASTER AT LEETONIA, DIES

Prominent in Leetonia And Salem Lodge And Church Work.

Leetonia lost one of its widely known residents, when Postmaster Henry D. Weaver, 67, died at 7:30 a. m. Monday after a three weeks' illness. He had been in failing health for some time.

Henry D. Weaver, a son of Samuel and Susan Weaver, was born April 12, 1866, on a farm in Fairfield township, about one mile south of Columbiana. He grew to manhood there and taught school for some five or six years.

On Oct. 3, 1878, he was united in marriage with Lydia M. Zimmerman and they went to housekeeping on the Anglemeyer farm near Leetonia and resided there one year. The remainder of his life was spent in Leetonia, with the exception of a few years in Salem, during which time he was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

In 1881 he became associated with the Leetonia postoffice, serving as both clerk and deputy postmaster. In 1898 he received his appointment as postmaster holding this position until 1914. He was out of the post office for a time and in 1921 was re-appointed postmaster which office he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Weaver was a member of St. Paul's English Lutheran church and was a 32nd degree Mason and was affiliated with the Shriners and Knights Templar. He was a member of Salem chapter, No. 94, R. A. M., and Salem commandery, No. 42, Knights Templar. He was prominent socially and in church and lodge work.

Surviving are his widow and three daughters: Mrs. George Ferguson of Warren; Mrs. H. C. Brillhart, Leetonia; and Mrs. Frederick Nilson, of Rochester.

AMERICAN LEGION OPENS CONVENTION IN SAN FRANCISCO

Secretary Of Labor Endorses Immigration Policy; Will Fight Klan.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Veterans of St. Mihiel, Chateau Thierry, and Argonne, the unsung heroes of training camps and the warriors of the sea, went over the top under a barrage of San Francisco's hospitality today in opening the fifth annual convention of the American Legion. More than 150,000 delegates and visitors from every state and territory in the union and from many foreign countries are in attendance.

Twenty thousand Pacific coast fleet jacksies joined San Francisco residents in welcoming the delegates.

Among the important addresses of the opening session of the legionnaires was that by James A. Davis, U. S. secretary of labor, who endorsed the legion's stand for further restriction upon immigration to this country. He congratulated the legion upon its interest in the care of delinquent and homeless children.

Indications at the opening of the session today were that a fight on the Ku Klux Klan would prove a big issue before the veterans. Echoes of the attacks to be launched upon the Klan were heard everywhere in the corridors of the convention hall and various factions were lining up their forces. Those opposed to the Klan said they would commit to the open today and the denouncing of the organization early in the convention was promised.

KLANSMEN

were clothed only in civilian dress. The parade consisted mainly of Klansmen on foot, very few automobiles taking part. Two hands and one drum corps furnished music, while many of the delegations sang as they moved along.

Fireworks In Evening
Following the parade there was a large display of fireworks and a band concert in which all the bands took part.

The grounds were illuminated with torches and automobile headlights. Many booths where Klan newspapers were on sale, refreshment stands and various concessions were stationed about the grounds.

Following the addresses of the evening a class of several hundred was initiated.

The streets along which the parade moved in the city district were congested with thousands of spectators, many of them crowding into the streets and barely leaving room for the marchers to pass. Chief of Police Hugh McDermott had appointed several ledupm police who with the regular patrolmen and officials, kept the crowd back and made room for the parade. A traffic officer was stationed on each principal corner in the downtown district during the parade and until a late hour Saturday night.

Special houses were run from the downtown district to the Fisher farm during the entire day. Traffic along the Lisbon rd. was kept moving by deputies appointed by Sheriff Lewis.

MAN KILLED

turning and pinning the four persons under it.

A passing motorist took the four injured people to the Salem City hospital after farmers aided in rescuing them.

Child Is Injured
Mrs. R. C. Casto, East Liverpool, was thrown through the windshield, her face being severely lacerated and her small son, Billy, had his collar bone fractured, when the automobile crashed into another machine near the Salem Golf club on the Lisbon rd. at 8 p. m. Sunday. Three other children in the car were uninjured.

Casto attempted to drive around another car and it is reported the machine skidded and his car ran into the other machine.

Casto, who was uninjured, placed his injured wife and child in another machine and a member of the golf club took them to the Salem City hospital.

The boy will live but his injuries are serious. Mrs. Casto had her lower lip torn and her face cut by the windshield as she plunged through it.

A 15-months-old baby, forgotten when the injured were taken to the hospital, was found in the ditch injured, beside the machine, when the hysterical mother cried for her child and sent the husband back to the scene.

In attempting to take off on a third flight at 7:30 Saturday night, Walter L. Smith, Akron aviator, who had been entertaining the Klan with spectacular flights during the afternoon at the conclave, was severely injured when his airplane struck the top branches of a tree, causing the machine to crash to the ground.

Smith, who lives at 7565 Work ave. drive, Akron, is suffering from a fractured right leg and severe body bruises.

Salem Man Injured
Ravenna, Oct. 15.—An automobile driven by Andy Bosu of Mt. Union, skidded, overturned and burned on the paved road between Rootstown and Talmadge at 9 a. m. Sunday.

The occupants, including Bosu and his nieces, Mary Sabanta, 18, and Anna Sabanta, 8, and John Farcus of Salem, were brought to the Ravenna hospital by A. C. Halley, Akron taxi driver, with severe cuts and bruises.

FIRST NUMBER OF COURSE TUESDAY

Cavan Welsh Singers Will Open Methodist Lecture Course Program.

The Cavan Welsh singers, the first number of the Methodist church lecture course, will appear Tuesday night.

Cavan Jones, the organizer and baritone of the singers, came to America eight years ago after winning many trophies at the largest musical festivals in Wales. He was a pupil of Roland Rogers of the Bangor Cathedral in North Wales. He has a vocal range from bottom D to high C. He has been termed the man with a wonder voice.

During the summer of 1921 Jones made a concert tour of England and Wales and a year later he returned to Wales for the Anglesea Musical festival at Holyhead.

Jones makes a feature of singing any Welsh song requested by the audience.

All members of this company are natural vocalists. The harmony in ensemble work is remarkable. In their entertainment are included many humorous and secular numbers. Some of their most popular Welsh songs are "March of the Men of Harlech," "O That Summer Smiled for Aye" and "All Through the Night." One portion of the program will be given in Spanish gypsy costumes. Operatic selections of a popular nature will be given in this connection.

GIVEN CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

Management of Hospital for Epileptics Exonerated.

INVESTIGATOR FILES REPORT

State Securities Department an Issue Between Governor Donahay and Attorney General Crabbe—Condition of State Treasury Revealed by Treasurer Day—Women's League Moves to Get Out the Vote.

Columbus, Oct. 14.—Management of the state hospital for epileptics at Gallipolis is given a clean bill of health in a report filed with Governor Donahay by H. J. Burton, who investigated conditions at the institution. The investigation was ordered after repeated rumors and affidavits had come to the governor's attention alleging inefficiency on the part of Dr. G. G. Kineon, superintendent, and alleged misconduct and brutality on the part of E. J. Wilson, attendant. Both officials are completely exonerated by Burton, who says he visited the hospital incognito and talked to many inmates and attendants as well as reliable citizens of Gallipolis.

In the case of the death of Glenn Ruhl of Alliance, an inmate, Burton reports that the youth died of epilepsy after having 56 repeated attacks. Because the boy's body was horribly bruised when it arrived home, rumors that he had met his death by violence became widespread. These bruises were caused by falls, according to Burton, who quotes attendants, a physician and the Meigs county coroner.

Burton, in clearing Kineon and Wilson of criticism, quotes attendants, inmates and townspeople, who, he says, praised the men highly. The investigator further alleges the criticisms to be the result of spite and disgruntled employees.

A letter from Attorney General Crabbe is quoted which informed the attorney for the complainants that the welfare department blocked every move for an investigation. In summing up, Burton said the charges against Wilson should be left with Kineon for final disposition.

Burton is a private detective, who has been retained by Governor Donahay for all sorts of investigations. Attorney General Crabbe, in renewing his attack on the state securities department, said: "I defy the governor or the present securities department to point out one thing that either of them has done to protect the people against the Dollings frauds."

The attorney general conceded that the present securities department did not certificate the Dollings stock. "But the department sought to bolster up the Dollings securities until after receivers were appointed and the sale of stock stopped," said Crabbe. "The admission of Mr. Locher, who controls the securities department, that he was in the room of Dwight Harrison, secretary and vice president of the company, at the Desher hotel a short time before valuable papers were burned and others removed from the Dollings offices, seems significant."

Governor Donahay in commenting on the attorney general's attack on the state securities department said: "My personal opinion is that Mr. Crabbe is a common scoundrel and a liar. As habitual, he is scawagging when he attacks the securities department. Mr. Crabbe, in an effort to cast discredit on my administration, has proclaimed on several occasions recently that the state securities department has been crookedly controlled by the R. L. Dollings company for 10 years and that this control continues until the present hour. Ten years include the Republican administrations of Willis and Davis. I don't know what information Mr. Crabbe may possess regarding former administrations, but I do know that no Dollings stock has been certificated since an appointee of mine has been in charge of the securities department. Mr. Crabbe knows this and that's what hurts him."

State Treasurer Harry Day announces in his annual report that the state of Ohio had a balance of $25,539,899.43 in the general revenue fund in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Since the end of the fiscal year the balance has increased to about $30,000,000, Day said. During the last fiscal year the general fund balance increased over $6,000,000. Balance a year ago was $19,557,287.56. Present balance does not include $2,000,000 which was transferred from the general revenue fund to the soldiers' bonus fund.

The state received $1,084,837.14 interest during the year on state funds on deposit in banks, as against $772,774.83 the preceding year, and is now receiving an average of $100,000 a month interest.

Total receipts of the treasury for the year amounted to $58,132,472.63. The report shows the state's debt at $25,001,665, of which $1,665 is canal loan bonds and the rest the soldier bonus bonds.

Treasurer Day predicts a decrease in the general revenue fund balance due to the abolishment of the state direct tax levies, excepting the soldier bonus levy, although there will be added revenue from other sources, including $1,000,000 a year from the new motor bus law.

The fight on fluless stores and carbon-monoxide poisoning has been reopened by the Ohio state department of health. Last winter, 64 Ohioans were killed by carbon-monoxide and 113 suffered partial asphyxiation. This does not include accidents.

To prevent such a toll being exacted again, the health department repeats its warnings to persons using gas stores as follows: Have a source of fresh air in every room in which a stove is located; wherever possible, see that your stove has flues; never sleep in a room where a gas stove is burning; do not turn cook stoves too high; do not let flames play against cold metal surfaces; if persons in a room experience headaches or faint spells, suspect carbon-monoxide; in case of doubt, call your health commissioner for further instructions or write to the state department of health in Columbus.

Ohio League of Women Voters has adopted the slogan, "get out the vote." This action was made necessary following the report of the federal census department which revealed that 41.6 per cent of the men and women of Ohio of more than 21 years of age did not vote in the last general election. The report shows the rural population, many of whom traveled miles to a polling place, took more interest in the election than did the city-folk, with a voting booth almost at their door.

The following list shows the low percentage of voting in Ohio city counties in 1920: Cuyahoga, 41 per cent; Franklin, 60 per cent; Hamilton, 61 per cent; Lucas, 50 per cent; Mahoning, 43 per cent; Summit, 41 per cent; Montgomery, 67 per cent; Stark, 54 per cent. Compared with these percentages, Delaware county voted 83 per cent and Pike county 81 per cent, although it might be noted here that a legislative investigation showed a tendency to "repeat" in this latter county.

To try to get the state's whole percentage up to at least 75 per cent voting, the league of women voters, a organizing the state by precincts and will give out non-partisan information on candidates and issues.

The question of whether or not Captain R. U. Hastings, removed superintendent of the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster, will be permitted to compete in an examination of applicants for the permanent appointment of a new superintendent, is expected to be decided by the state civil service commission as a result of a request filed with that body. Under the law, the commission is called upon to decide whether or not applicants who desire to compete are eligible. This includes discharged employees of the service. It is well known that friends of Captain Hastings are anxious to see him reinstated to his former position, and the commission will be called upon to decide whether or not he may compete for his old place. It is expected that Captain Hastings will file his application and be an applicant for his former position.

The place was offered to Major A. M. Buescher, who has been acting superintendent since the first of March. Because Major Buescher is a former world war veteran, he would not be compelled to compete for the place in a competitive examination, but he refused to accept "until an honest effort had been made to reappoint Captain Hastings."

Former Congressman C. L. Knight of Akron, in an address before the Optimist club of this city, declared that the people of Ohio should be thankful for their supreme court that has just upheld their right to vote upon the Taft and Albaugh tax bills. Had it not been for this decision he said, two laws of far-reaching results would have been fastened upon the people. One, he said, would have taken at least $15,000,000 more out of the pockets of the taxpayers the very first year, and the second would have "compelled the people to pay at least a million dollars a year for creating a new cog in the political machine."

Under the Albaugh bill, Knight said, it would be possible that appointed assessors would use their power to confer favors upon those who had property and stood well at headquarters, while any person opposed to the local organization—that would in reality appoint these assessors—would get all that was coming to them by way of increased assessments.

Representative Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, author of the tax act, in an address at the regional meeting of the Ohio Bankers' association at Delaware, said the Taft law gives no more money to the taxpayers. "There are a few cities in the state where 17 mills is not being spent today for the current expenses of schools, cities and counties," said Mr. Taft. "If less is required and any intelligent public opinion exists in the district, the budget commission will allow less."

LANDMARK OF MAINE COAST

Mystery of the Old "Powder House" at Hallowell Never Yet Has Been Solved.

Founded on the immovable rocks is that time-honored landmark, the old Hallowell powder house, overlooking the little city nestling beneath some of Maine's most beautiful hills.

This old brick structure has its one mysterious door barred with iron and carved with cabalistic signs that register its visitors of over a century. No trace has ever been found of the erection of this little building, which has stood for two centuries as a silent sentinel over a peaceful and law-abiding community.

It is said that when Peter Clark took his one rude cart, which he and his father and brave wife had brought with them from their Massachusetts home in 1762, and turned it upside down on the banks of the river for their first shelter, with their one child, the powder house on the heights was standing there exactly as we see it now. Its origin and architects are unknown and unaccounted for and a deep mystery will always prevail around its existence. It is a landmark annually visited by hundreds who have heard of its silent vigil on the rocky heights of the Kennebec valley.

The name powder house was given to it because it has always been used as a depository for the highly combustible ingredients of powder and dynamite and from it has been given the name of the rocky ledge, Powder House hill, adjoining it—Lewiston Journal.

Pineapple Peeling Made Easy.

The easiest way to peel a pineapple is to fill a kettle or a pail a little larger than the pineapple with boiling water. Into this plunge the fruit completely covering it with the water. Allow it to remain for three to five minutes. Remove from water and cut into slices about one-half inch thick. Then peel and cut out eyes. It will peel almost as easily as a potato. While peeling the first one immerse another in the water, which must be kept at the boiling point. This does not injure the flavor nor soften the inside.

Clara Kimball Young, noted motion picture actress, has been accused by Joseph Sachs, millionaire Pasadena (Cal.) merchant, of having persuaded his wife, Mrs. Carolyn Sachs, to leave him. In adjusting the position of the driving seat, in lowering the steering column and in bringing the shift lever and emergency brake within the easiest possible reach of the driver's hand, Buick has provided additional comfort and satisfaction in the new four-cylinder models. Ease of handling is also an outstanding feature of the new Buick "four". In heavy traffic the abundant power of the famous valve-in-head engine and the quickness with which the car responds to every control enable it to glide in and out of traffic with the utmost facility, while Buick four-wheel brakes assure perfect braking and safety under all conditions.

High Stars Issue Class E. Challenge

One Class E. game Saturday morning had to be put off because the opposing team did not show up to play high street Stars. It was understood that the Carpenters would play the Stars but that team did not put in its appearance at Cox's field.

The Stars, managed by Frank Covert have the following lineup: Cox, left end; Pearson, left tackle; J. Fawcett, left guard; Loop, center; Ballantine, right guard; Weaver, right half; Groves, right end; F. Fawcett, quarter; Kridler, left half; Talbot, right half; Covert, fullback.

Manager Covert has issued a challenge to all teams of that weight and class. Notify him at 331 East High st.

BUT THEY ALL REALLY CARE

Persons Who Boldly Defy Public Opinion Know That They Must Pay the Penalty.

"I don't give a darn," says someone when reproved for his actions and told that they will not meet the approval of his friends. "I don't give a darn what people think," said a rather well-known actress when she returned from Europe the other day after her domestic affairs had been given a rather thorough airing.

But they do care. We all care what others think of us. We live a group life, and it is natural to want the approval of those around us. If we must part company with them we can do it safely, for ourselves, only when we are convinced that we are right and they are wrong.

Now and then some spoiled favorite, as in the case of the young actress, snaps her fingers in the face of public approval. That is bravado—or the desire for more advertising, suggests the Milwaukee Journal. Usually those who do it are the ones who have had the greatest favors from the public. Now and then two people, reckless in the attraction of one for the other, defy public opinion. And they pay.

But for most of us the standards of conduct that have been set up are a steady influence. The desire not to go counter to the approval of our fellows often holds us to the path when we are sorely tempted to step aside. And it is well that it does. The don't-give-a-darn policy is dangerous ground.

SALEM'S GREEN TEAM TRIUMPHS OVER PALESTINE

Red And Black Defeat East Palestine High By Dazzling Line Bucks And End Runs; Score 20 To 0.

Playing a game that veteran teams would be proud of Salem High after three defeats triumphed over East Palestine High, contender for the county title, Saturday afternoon at Reilly field by the score of 20 to 0. And Harry Houser, brilliant fullback, emblazoned his name in big red letters in Salem High's hall of fame by his three touchdowns, his terrific end running, his cyclonic plungings and expert punting.

Truly it was a day of rejoicing in the Red and Black camp. The team surprised even its most ardent backers by the dazzling display of football that every one of the men uncovered. To Houser must be given a lot of the credit for the victory. Because Harry just couldn't be stopped. He mopped up everything in his path when he skirted the ends. He smashed end defense when he hit the line. But had it not been for the teamwork, the fine kind of football with a punch that the entire team claimed as their contribution to the victory. Houser would not have been able to score when he did. It was simply a case of coming from behind after a bad start, after three games, though none of them county games, were laid to rest with a Salem funeral.

Sartick, back at his old position at end, and handicapped with a severely injured hand, tore into the game and played like a veteran gridiron star.

SALEM PROS TAKE FIRST LOCAL GAME FROM SHARON 18-0

Smash Up Sokols' Line And Put Two Markers Across Early.

SOKOLS NO MATCH FOR SALEM TEAM

Trotter Makes 85-Yard Run For Touchdown At First Of Game.

Starting out with a bang the Salem Professionals put across two touchdowns Sunday against the Sharon Sokols at Centennial park before the Sharon team knew what had happened and put the game on ice, winning by the final score of 18 to 0.

The Sokols were no match for the Pros, although they held the Salem team near the goal line three times. Trotter started the fireworks with the blow of the whistle when he raced across the goal line after catching the ball at the kickoff and dodging 85 yards. It was a pretty run and caught the slow moving Sokols unaware.

The ball was given to Seeds three plays later and he tore off one 49 and a 30 yard run before dashing across the line for the second tally of the quarter.

During the second and third periods the Professionals were held scoreless. They seemed to be getting slower but in the final quarter the squad got back their pep and sailed into the fray for long gains. Seeds skirted end for the final touchdown of the game after several line plunges by Scullion and Trotter put the ball near the line. Simms, versatile member of the Salem squad played almost every position Sunday except center, which job Dowd handled so well. Simms' punting as a whole was fine.

F. Hannay and Seeds both failed on attempts to kick goal after a touchdown and Simms once failed to pass for the extra point.

The Pros so far outclassed the Sokols that the final score was never a source of worry for the Salem eleven. And the game And the game showed Salem fans that the team is a good one.

And Sartick is a real veteran, and a star. He blocked punts, he smashed up interference, and in general played havoc with the Palestine team.

Yengling, Stallsmith and Vollmer on the line had everything their own way and plowed through the Palestine line at will.

The first score came after Houser made a long return of the ball on the kickoff and then Cosgrove tore off tackle for 55 yards. Salem had the ball on the ten yard line but lacked the punch to put it over. Palestine punted. Houser from midfield heaved a 35 yard pass to Sartick. And on the next play Houser raced across the goal line on a line plunge. Sartick's attempt at goal failed.

In the second half Houser ran around right end for 40 yards on the first play and then scored through a gaping hole made by Vollmer, Stallsmith, Yengling and company. Sartick kicked goal.

Cosgrove then decided to watch the belated forward pass attack of the visitors. And he was justified in this as he snatched a long pass from Ward and raced down near the goal line. Houser dashed off 25 yards around end and on short buck then took it over. Sartick kicked goal.

Palestine stiffened in the last quarter when Coach Richtman sent in some subs but the Red and Black held. Ward, fleet Palestine back, was easily the best player and ground gainer for the visitors. The Palestine line was cleverly and consistently outplayed.

The story can be told then in these words: Salem High's green team under the tutelage of a fine coach, have become veterans and whether or not they win the rest of the games and they should win most of them, they demonstrated that they are a real team.

"OLD DOBBIN" GETS OLDER EVERY YEAR

Columbus, Oct. 13.—It appears that the horses doing the work on Ohio farms nowadays are older than the average of years past, and that there are fewer colts coming along in the pastures to take up the traces when Old Dobbin becomes too old to labor.

Farm management men at the Ohio State university base this statement on the books of 124 farms in various sections of Ohio, farms where the owners have with the help of county agricultural agents kept precise records of their businesses for the past three years or more.

On 24 farms in Green and Medina counties, for example, there were in 1920 a total of 138 horses. Today, there are but 124. The average age of horses working on these farms in 1920 was nine years; today the average age is 11 years. In 1920, almost an even fourth of the horses were under 15 years old; today, only three-quarters of the horses are that young.

Besides, there were between the pasture fences of these 24 farms in 1920 a total of 14 colts, and today there are only six. Similarly, a group of 50 northwestern Ohio farms showed 42 colts in 1918, and 14 today; while 50 other farms in the northeast of the state had 50 colts in 1918, and now have only 18.

F. L. Morrison, the specialist compiling the information, remarks that high priced feeds and a poor market for colts probably account for the situation and believes that "there will be a demand for young horses within the next few years."

NAVY DISASTER ALMOST UNIQUE

LOSS OF DESTROYERS ON THE CALIFORNIA COAST IS NOT EASY TO EXPLAIN.

SAILORS HEROIC AS USUAL

Event Recalls Samoan Hurricane, When American Warships Went on Rocks While Band Lashed in Rigging Played National Anthem.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The wreck of the seven destroyers of the United States navy off the coast of California is set down as an almost unaccountable disaster. Nothing exactly of its kind has been known before in the history of the sea service. Rarely has there been any great catastrophe which has been followed by an aftermath of suspicion that the disaster might have been the result of negligence or inattention to duty.

At this writing it is not known definitely just what it was that led to the piling up of these destroyers on the rocks, and therefore it is too early to say where the fault lay, if there was fault. There always is a court of inquiry convened to find out why trouble came to any vessel that got into trouble, and so the calling of a court of inquiry in itself does not mean that blame is to be attached to a commanding officer or to his subordinates.

In virtually every disaster to ships of the American navy there has been an accompaniment of high heroism. Such was the case in the recent destroyer disaster. American sailors always have shown the highest kind of heroism in the face of danger, whether it was danger from nature or danger from a human foe.

Samoan Hurricane Recalled.

It was just thirty-five years ago that the disaster to ships of the American navy occurred at Samoa. A German naval ship, the Adler, met with misfortune at the same time, while the only vessel to escape unscathed was a British man of war which luckily for its crew was of modern build with high power engines?

There had been trouble in Samoa and the British, German and American government were interested in settling it. They had conflicting claims on the island. While the ships of the three navies were in the roadstead at Samoa, a hurricane came up out of nowhere. Then began the fight of ships and men with the elements.

The British ship put on all steam possible and managed to make its way out to sea in the face of one of the most terrible storms that ever visited a tropical ocean. The American ships and the German ship tried to do the same thing, but nature was too strong for them.

For hours the American seamen tried to save their vessels from going on the rocks. Every expedient known to seamanship was tried. The Germans also used all their energy to avoid disaster. The scenes of that day are hard to picture.

Gallantry of Our Seamen.

The Trenton was the flagship of the little American squadron. The commanding officer ordered the band of the ship into the rigging. Each man took his instrument with him. Every member of the band was lashed to the rigging so that the waves could not sweep him from his place. Then the order was given to play the "Star-Spangled Banner."

The strains of the national anthem were played repeatedly and the sounds thereof cheered the seamen who were trying to save themselves and their ships from the rocks. Man after man was swept overboard, but the high courage of the survivors never deserted them. The ships all were wrecked, but enough of their hulls was left to give a foothold to the battling crews, or what was left of them. The hurricane subsided and the re-appearing sun looked down on a sea of wreckage.

The United States ship Huron, an iron vessel, ran on the rocks off the Carolina coast one black stormy night, nearly forty years ago. The vessel appeared to be doomed. There was a high sea running and it was fast breaking up. An officer of the ship, Lieut. Lucien Young, offered to attempt to swim through the raging sea to the shore. He took a line with him, and by a miracle accomplished his task. The line was attached to a cable on the ship and the lives of 130 men which otherwise would have been lost, were saved through heroism of an American sailor.

The service has scores of records of self-sacrifice and dauntless courage in storm and battle.

Fate.

It is a strange fact that since the death of President Taylor of the United States every fourth president has died a sudden death. After Taylor, the twelfth president, there were Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan and Lincoln. President Lincoln was assassinated while attending a theater. Then came Johnson, Grant, Hayes and Garfield. President Garfield was also assassinated. Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison and McKinley, who was the third United States president to be assassinated. Then followed Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and President Harding, who died a natural but sudden death.

Melting Sulphur.

Sulphur is often used to anchor bolts in cement or stone floors, but as it catches fire so easily when melted over an open flame, its use is somewhat inconvenient. The difficulty can, however, be avoided by first melting some lead, and then partly immersing the sulphur vessel in the molten lead. The sulphur will be melted in a short time, and there it will not catch fire, unless the temperature of the lead is allowed to exceed 625 degrees Fahrenheit.

Looking for Oil in Spain.

It appears that there are at present eight companies engaged in exploration for oil in the Bilbao district, according to information published by the official chamber of mines at Bilbao. The denouncements of these companies in the Spanish Basque provinces alone of the Bilbao district cover many thousand acres of lands which have been favorably reported upon by the companies' geologists. A number of borings have been made which have given favorable indications, but no results of a definite character have as yet been achieved.

Things to Know About Our Service

One Way to Reduce Light Bills

While the increase that your electric bill may show this month is due principally to the lengthened period of darkness at this season, much light that could be saved is wasted unintentionally.

Dust and dirt on lamps, shades and reflectors, absorb 40% of the light you pay for!

Housewives! Now at a fall cleaning time—clean and polish with a dry cleaning electric lamp ("bulb") in the house. Wash glass shades with soap and water. Clean silk shades with the suction attachment on your vacuum cleaner, then brighten the colors with gasoline. Replace all burned out lamps with new lamps and put your lighting equipment in good condition all around.

Do this—and you'll stop waste of light through dust and dirt, and be able to save on the amount of electricity consumed.
